Using the Library Off-Campus

This handout shows you how to get help from a librarian and use library resources when you’re off-campus.

Get help from a librarian:

- Librarians are available by chat, email, and phone.

Find more tutorials:

- Open the Research Help page and click the Tutorials link to find a page with all the videos and step-by-step guides that librarians at the Rebecca Crown Library have made.

- Tutorials are organized by topic, or you can search the entire page.
- If you can’t find the video/handout you want, or you need more help, ask a librarian!
Use research guides to find information for a topic, class, or assignment:

- Open the Research Help page and click the Research Guides & Class Pages link to find pages made by librarians with books, articles, and other material to help your research.

- The pages are organized by subject. Open the subject menu and find the guide you need.
- Each guide is different, but they include books, journals, and websites related to the subject, as well as core resources that you’re likely to use.

Off-campus access:

- To access databases and eBooks, you will need to login with your Dominican username and password.
